
Serviced Apartment - Your Thoughts?

Posted by Dashan - 2008/04/28 18:14

Suzhou Expats,

Just started to look around for a residence in SIP (or SND) starting in May 2008. I'm interested in anyone's thoughts / experiences on "Serviced Apartments" just as:

SIP - Chateau Regency ... may be more out there

SND - Leaders's Palace, Regalia Serviced Residencies, Dragonfly Serviced Apartments ... may be more out there

Danny,

Appreciate your support if the need arises. I'm actually looking for feedback from those having had experience in a serviced apartment.

Anyone?

Dear Dashan,

Howard Johnson All Suites & Serviced Apartments have recently opened and they have very attractive quotes for residences i.e. long staying guests.

Itâ€™s really like home away from home.

Check it out yourself; itâ€™s just behind Chateau Regency.

Chauhan,

I looked at HoJos (Howard Johnson's) URL and the level of service for an Expat appears more than adequate. However, I feel the monthly rate for a 1 bedroom 101 sqm apartment is too much 14,500 RMB per month. Thoughts?

Type	Name	Are Daily	Weekly	Monthly
1Bedroom	ExecutiveResidence	101 600	4200	14500

Dear Dashan,

Give a buzz to the Sales reps and I am sure they will be able to tailor design a stay package for you at prices favorable to both parties.

Hello Dashan,

I heard that Chateau Regency is nice.

But why you do not take a "normal" apartment and hire an ayi?

In regard to the location I would definetly prefer SIP.

Good luck!
Ines
