
Looking for a job (business&administration/other)

Posted by Artsuo - 2008/05/23 02:03

Hello,

I am a 25-year-old man from Finland. In the past I have been to China on two occasions for a total of 1,5 years, mainly studying but also working as well. I miss China very much, and thus I am looking for a job there.

The type of work I would be best suited for would be in the area of business and administration, including marketing, sales, logistics, or others. Other types of work interest me also, as I am very open minded.

I recently graduated from Lahti University of Applied Sciences, Finland, and got my Bachelor's degree in International Business. My other notable studies include studies of Chinese language, and I would describe my level of Chinese as knowing the basics, I can manage in normal situations, and read and write some 1000 characters so far. However, I am very keen in continuing to improve my Chinese level.

Spoken languages:

Finnish (native)

English (fluent)

Swedish (good)

Mandarin Chinese (basic)

German (basic)

I have around 2 years of experience in office work, general sales tasks and some marketing tasks. In addition I have worked a shorter period for a Chinese university, correcting and proofreading their teaching material for foreign students. I know computers quite well, I am good with the Office "package as well as some other office programs and of course browser and e-mail programs.

In my work, I am dutiful and eager to learn new.

I am also very interested in everything about China, and Chinese culture.

My hobbies include running, gym training, computers and reading.

I am currently living in Finland, but I can come to China and start working as soon as the visa procedure has been taken care of. I can work full time or part time as well.

If your company is perhaps looking for someone like me, please feel free to contact me by: artsuo @ hotmail.com

I will also be happy to provide you with a full resume, picture, and additional information about myself.

Best regards,

Arto
